GERMANY OFFERS PEACE WITH A STRING TO IT

In order to fool the Allies into slowing up their offensive and giving Germany a chance to recuperate for another campaign of slaughter.

Will you let Germany fool you, or will your answer be the buying of more Liberty Bonds to help win the war?

In other words, are the Kaiser's catspaw or are you a patriotic American?

Answer by buying more Bonds.

ISOLATED TROOPS IN WOODS RELIEVED

Battalion Cut Off Since Friday in the Argonne Relieved Monday Night by Advancing Troops.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Oct 8 (9 a m).—An American battalion that had been cut off and surrounded in the Argonne forest last Friday was relieved last night when their comrades broke through the stiffest German resistance and rescued them

In the advance last Friday the Americans had to go forward through dense undergrowth The men of the battalion noticed Gemans slipping to the rear, but believed that they would be "mopped up" by the second American line

The enemy groups succeeded in holding up the assault of the second American column with the result that the battalion was cut off.

When the advanced elements were sent back to maintain contact with the main body they encountered the enemy in their rear.

The Germans took shelter in an evacuated trench system that the Americans had passed over, using it as a base of resistance The Boches brought up machine guns from dugouts, while airplanes carried them food, ammunition and medical supplies. Carrier pigeons were used for communication purposes.

The Americans fought continually to prevent capture. A half a dozen times the main American force tried to hack its way through to relieve the surrounded battalion.

The occupation of Hill No 244 yesterday permitted direct machine gun fire against the Germans. The American advance northward then released the battalion The Americans who had been surrounded for over three days then turned upon the Boches who had formerly been besieging them, and captured many of them.

WOMEN HAVE TO REGISTER TO VOTE

Friday and Saturday of this week are the first two days of registration and women who desire to vote at the November election must enroll at the polls on those days, or on the Friday and Saturday following October 18 and 19.

This is the first that the new election districts will be used in Kingston. Seven new districts have been added making twenty registration districts in Kingston.

Not only the women but the men who desire to vote must also register on registration day.

Only the inspectors of election will serve on the days set aside for registration and enrollment.

A Good Law Broken.

Now that the leaves are falling the ordinance against burning leaves should be strictly enforced. It always has been disregarded and the burning of leaves at night, the leaving of a smouldering fire at a time when high winds are apt suddenly to arise, is to invite a conflagration.

AMERICAN ARMY HAS MADE GOOD

French People at One Time Thought It a Bluff, But Now They Know the Real Truth.

(By Ernest P Orr)

(Who since 1916 has been manager of the International News Service in Paris, who has been on every fighting front in France and Belgium and who has seen every angle of the Hun from his hour of victory to his present hour of menacing defeat. Mr Orr has just arrived from Paris)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct 8.—America has delivered the goods and the whole world now recognizes it Kaisers Bill and Carl included. Paris, London and Rome freely admit the Yanks saved Paris That's a real compliment The "advance" of the German army on Berlin and the peace wails of both Kaisers Bill and Carl is even a better one.

And with it all there has returned to the American soldier in France the great popularity that was his upon our first arrival there—thereafter slightly dimmed by a too strenuous press campaign in which it was rashly stated our doughboys would immediately take their places in the fighting line relieving some of the older French classes.

The French were led to expect too much from their own press At a time when General Pershing frankly confided to the correspondents he thought we would be doing well if we had 100,000 men in France by January 1, 1918. France—that is, the French public—was looking forward to the immediate advent of a huge American army.

As month after month rolled by and nothing happened, as far as the actual entry of American troops into the line, doubts began to be expressed Sceptics were inclined to believe our promised army was just a little bit of American "bluff." Their scepticism really had quite some justification. They had been told to expect so much and they saw so little, understood so little of the tremendous preliminary work that must be accomplished before an army of any magnitude could be landed. The first troops landed in June and it was November before they entered the trenches, and then only for additional training It was January before the first division went into the trenches for good but it was a long period of waiting for tired, nerve-racked France, particularly after what the papers had stated.

But that's all changed now. Everywhere the doughboy is acclaimed as a hero and a deliverer People on the boulevards of blase, sophisticated-war-hardened Paris, will stop and cheer a bunch of the boys passing in an auto truck. The individual soldier receives a cheery nod or bright smile from the ordinary passerby with a not unfrequent "vive l'Americaine" It is the same in the smaller cities and the country districts. Nothing is too good for the Yank He's the darling of the populace and as for the French girls, he's the idol of her eye

A FRENCH MESSAGE TO US

THE French League of Patriots has distributed throughout France a leaflet, reading as follows:

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF THE FRENCH CONSUMER DURING THE WAR.

1. Do not forget that we are at war. In your smallest expenditures never lose sight of the interests of your native land.

2. Economize on the products necessary for the life of the country. Coal, bread, meat, milk, sugar, wine, butter, beans, clothes, leather, oil Accept rations. Ration yourself as to food, clothing amusements.

3 Save the products of French soil lest some day you deprive your father, your son, your husband, who are shedding their blood to defend you.

4. Save the products that France must buy from foreign countries. Do not drain reserves of gold which are indispensable to victory.

5. Waste nothing. All waste is a crime which imperils the national defense—prolongs the war.

6. Buy only according to your needs. Do not hoard provisions: your selfishness raises prices and deprives those of smaller means of things indispensable to existence.

7. Do not travel unnecessarily. Reflect that our trains are, before all, destined for the transportation of the troops, the feeding of the population, the needs of our national production.

8. Do not remain idle According to your age and your ability, work for your country. Do not consume without producing. Idleness is desertion.

9. Accept without murmuring the privations which are imposed upon you. Reflect upon the sufferings of those who are fighting for you, upon the martyrdom of the population whose hearths have been devastated by the enemy.

10. Remember that victory belongs to those who can hold out a quarter of an hour the longest

That France may live, she must be victorious!

France Must Be Victorious!
England Must Be Victorious!
Belgium Must Be Victorious!

BECAUSE

THEIR DEFEAT WOULD BE OUR DEFEAT

To be quickly and completely victorious we must "Lend the Way Our Boys Fight" to our utmost.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS!

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

American and British troops began a new attack today between St. Quentin and Cambrai, driving through the gap that had been torn in the Hindenburg line in that sector.

A heavy rain was falling when the assault began, but despite this obstacle Field Marshal Haig reported satisfactory progress was made in the initial onset. The Anglo-Americans are striking in the direction of the two German strongholds at Le Cateau and Bohain.

Advances were made, also, on two other fronts on the western battlefields.

The French gained over a mile of additional territory, taking two more villages, while the Americans, pushing northward along the Meuse river, have reached the outskirts of Brieulles-sur-Meuse

Americans are taking part in all three of the drives that were under way today, attacking with the British on the Cambrai-St. Quentin front; with the French in Champagne and between the Argonne forest and the Meuse river

Powerful German counter attacks were delivered against the Americans, but all were broken up At a few points where the Germans succeeded in getting into American positions the Boches were either killed in hand to hand fighting or taken prisoners.

Brieulles-sur-Meuse is under heavy American artillery fire and is being battered to pieces. The town lies about 13½ miles north of Verdun and is on the road running northeast from Nantillois

French forces that captured Berry-au-Bac on the Aisne river, north of Rheims, have extended their gain by reaching Conde-dur-Meuse.

This gives the French plenty of elbow room for striking eastward along the northern bank of the Aisne, adding further peril to Von Mudra's German army that has been attempting to make a stand north of the Suippe river There is no relaxation of the steady British pressure against Lille By capturing Oppy and Briche-St Vaast the British have advanced their lines to a point about five miles from this great German base.

INFLUENZA NOT A NEW DISEASE

Epidemics Date Back to 1647 in America and First Came From Spain —Official Statement by Surgeon General Blue.

The following official statement in regard to "Spanish Influenza" has been made by Surgeon General Blue and if carefully read will be of great benefit in allaying needless alarm and, at the same time, promoting sane precautions:

"Spanish Influenza" — "Three-Day Fever" — "The Flu."

What is Spanish Influenza? Is it something new? Does it come from Spain?

The disease now occurring in this country and called "Spanish Influenza" resembles a very contagious kind of "cold" accompanied by fever, pains in the head, eyes, ears, back or other parts of the body and a feeling of severe sickness In most cases the symptoms disappear after three or four days, the patient then rapidly recovering; some of the patients, however, develop pneumonia, or inflammation of the ear, or meningitis, and many of these complicated cases die Whether this so-called "Spanish" influenza is identical with the epidemics of influenza of earlier years is not yet known.

Epidemics of influenza have visited this country since 1647. It is interesting to know that this first epidemic was brought here from Valencia, Spain. Since that time there have been numerous epidemics of the disease In 1889 and 1890 an epidemic of influenza, starting somewhere in the Orient, spread first to Russia, and thence over practically the entire civilized world Three years later there was another flare-up of the disease. Both times the epidemic spread widely over the United States.

Although the present epidemic is called "Spanish Influenza," there is no reason to believe that it originated in Spain. Some writers who have studied the question believe that the epidemic came from the Orient and they call attention to the fact that the Germans mention the disease as occurring along the eastern front in the summer and fall of 1917.

How can "Spanish Influenza" be recognized?

There is as yet no certain way in which a single case of "Spanish influenza" can be recognized; on the other hand, recognition is easy where there is a group of cases In contrast to the outbreaks of ordinary coughs and colds, which usually occur in the cold months, epidemics of

WILSON'S REPLY TO "PEACE" NOTE

Completed at Noon Today But Contents Are Not Known—Of Course It Will Be a Rejection of German Fake Offer

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, Oct 8—President Wilson's reply to the appeal of the Teutonic powers for an immediate armistice and a peace conference was completed just before noon today. At that time the president who had been secluded in his study during the entire morning with Colonel E. M. House sent for Secretary of State Lansing The latter was with the president for nearly an hour. It is understood that he passed upon the phrasing of the reply from the standpoint of international law. The note, it is understood, was fully approved by Mr Lansing and that arrangements were at once made to get it started to Berlin and Vienna.

Officials explained that it would be necessary that the note actually be started on its way to the enemy capitals before it could be made public here. They refused point blank to say whether the promised statement by Secretary Lansing would contain a copy of the president's reply or whether they would wait until the note reached Berlin and Vienna before mailing it public It was generally believed that the note would be made available for public consumption here and in the several Entente capitals as soon as possible.

Secretary Lansing sent for Philip Patchin, chief of the state department foreign intelligence bureau, as soon as he left the president It was assumed that Mr. Patchin would take charge of transmitting the text of the note to the various Allied countries at once.

That the President's reply would be a rejection of the Central Powers' appeal was considered certain No one in official circles admitted even a possibility of any other course of action But officials generally inclined to the belief that the President, in rejecting the request might tell the enemy just how it could go about the framing of a peace appeal that could be considered. They want the recurring peace drives ended at once for all Should the president make clear that until certain conditions are met no further attention will be paid to peace proposals the effect will be very beneficial everywhere, those officials say Incidentally while it was entirely possible that the words "unconditional surrender" might not appear in the president's reply, officials also said that there were diplomatic phrases that meant the same thing and they were hopeful that they would be utilized by the president.

AT LEAST 1,500 CASES OF GRIP

In Kingston—Physicians Kept Busy —Health Board Expected to Take Action Placing Ban on All Public Gatherings at Session Tonight.

It is estimated that there are fully 1,500 cases of grip or more in Kingston at the present time and physicians are kept busy making calls One physician alone on Monday had over sixty-five calls to make on grip patients.

With the closing of the public schools it is expected that the health board this evening will consider the advisability of placing a ban on all public gatherings until the epidemic is checked

While the majority of the grip cases are light still there are some that have resulted fatally.

Practically every industrial plant and business house in the city has been hit by the grip

City Judge Schirick is one of the latest victims to be reported, and this morning Officers Kuehn and Shader of the police force reported sick Officer Charles Murphy is confined to his house with the grip. Not only is he sick, but his wife, seven children, and his brother who makes his home with him are laid up with the grip.

Many persons about town today have the grip in a mild form and are trying to fight it off by keeping at work.

With grip so prevalent it would be wise for any one who is not ill to keep away from large gatherings of people, and use every precaution to prevent catching a cold.

SPREAD OF SPANISH INFLUENZA MENACES OUR WAR PRODUCTION

U. S. Public Health Service Begins Nation-wide Health Campaign.

Washington, D. C.—In order to limit the spread of Spanish influenza and keep it from making still further inroads on the nation's war production the U. S. Public Health Service under authority of the resolution just passed by Congress appropriating $1,000,000 to combat the disease has inaugurated a nation-wide campaign of public health education in co-operation with state and local health officers to teach the people of this country how to safeguard their health, keep themselves physically fit and so help maintain the high standard of war production attained within the last few months.

Secretary McAdoo, under whose direction the work of the U. S. Public Health Service is carried on, is taking an active interest in the health campaign. Despite the tremendous demands on his time because of the Fourth Liberty Loan and the work of the Railroad Administration, he has personally asked the help of the nation's newspapers in putting this important educational work before the people.

In response to a request for definite advice concerning Spanish influenza, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the U. S. Public Health Service has authorized the following statement:

The disease now spreading over this country is highly catching and may invade your community and attack you and your family unless you are very careful.

Influenza is a crowd disease. Therefore keep out of crowds as much as possible.

Influenza probably spreads mostly by inhaling some of the tiny droplets of germ-laden mucus sprayed into the air when ignorant or careless persons sneeze or cough without using a handkerchief. Therefore cover up each cough and sneeze.

Influenza is probably spread also by the filthy habit of spitting on sidewalks, street cars and other public places. Therefore do not spit on the floor or sidewalk.

Influenza is probably spread also by the use of common drinking cups and the use of common towels in public places. Therefore shun the common drinking cup and the roller towel in public places.

If you feel sick and believe you have "Spanish" influenza, go to bed and send for the doctor. This is important. Don't get up too soon, your heart feels as tired as your legs and needs rest.

In all health matters follow your doctor's advice, and obey the regulations of your local and state health officers.

All that has been said above about "Spanish" influenza is true also of colds, bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis. Do your part to keep them away.

FOWLER NOMINEE FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Candidate Qualified by Education and Temperament for the Office Has Been Made the Republican Nominee.

JOSEPH M. FOWLER.

The usual pre-election political activities are markedly absent this year, for the attention of the public is so drawn to the progress of the great war that but little thought is being given to the election of public officials. It is entirely proper and necessary that the winning of war should be the first consideration of all of us; however, local politics should not be altogether overlooked for every good citizen owes a duty to his community to participate in local elections to the end that government at home should be in proper hands and this will surely add to our efficiency in the great conflict.

For the important office of county judge, the Republican candidate, Joseph M. Fowler, is particularly worthy of consideration. He cannot be classed as a "mixer" in the usual political sense yet an examination of his record shows that no man in the county has lived a life of broader activities.

In his profession he is known as a lawyer with college and law school education, and with a quick and logical mind; he has established a reputation as a sound and reliable counsellor and an effective advocate, and always marked with absolute fidelity to the interests of his clients.

If judged by the measure of direct service to his country it is to be noted that in 1898, when just established in his profession, he enlisted with old Co. M and served with it through the Spanish war, leaving home as a private and returning home a second lieutenant, this promotion being with the hearty approval of every member of the company attested the regard and confidence his comrades had for and in him. After the close of the war he stayed in the National Guard until 1902, and when the late Co. M was called into service he came back into the Guard and is now first lieutenant in Co. M, N. Y. G., and has given much time to these duties as well as in assisting in drilling men subject to draft at the armory and at the Y. M. C. A.

In so-called civilian war work, Mr. Fowler has been active in practically every drive made in the county, is much in demand as a speaker, and during the past year has given fully half his time to that branch of the Red Cross work which has in charge allotments and allowances to soldiers' families; and with other lawyers he has served on the legal advisory board.

In purely civil affairs he has been a really participating member in the work of the Chamber of Commerce, and has served on many civic committees and commissions.

In the philanthropic and public welfare field we find that since its start he has been the active head of the anti-tuberculosis campaign in the county and the president of the board of managers of the Tuberculosis Hospital, and has been likewise identified with many other charitable endeavors.

Socially he has long been a member of many of Kingston's prominent fraternal and social organizations, such as the various Masonic orders, the Elks, Moose, Kingston Club, Twaalfskill and others.

In athletics and out-door recreations, he is still an enthusiastic base ball, tennis, and golf player, and a fisherman.

In politics he has always been not only a voting Republican but one active in party affairs as well.

His official life consists of five successive years spent in the New York State Assembly in which body he took high rank as a representative of ability and independence, served on the important Judiciary Committee, was chairman of Codes Committee, and a member of other committees, introduced and fathered successfully many important bills not only at the request of his local constituents but of State Departments, bar associations and of other organizations. His votes seem always to meet with the approval of the large majority of the people he represented.

In 1912, Mr. Fowler was the logical candidate for the County Judge nomination, was nominated without opposition, ran well ahead of his ticket and was beaten by a narrow margin only because of the adverse conditions, due to the Republican split of that year.

By education and legal training, judicial temperament, broadness of activities and public services, Joseph M. Fowler is a candidate who must appeal to voters generally. Admittedly as well qualified as any, he merits any reward the voters may give for exceptionally unselfish and valuable public service over a long period of years.

VERNON SHAW DEAD IN OLD GLORY HOLE

Recently Moved to Kingston From Tongore, and Had Been Missing Since Sept. 28—Death Accidental Coroner Kelly Believes.

Vernon Shaw of No. 23 West Pierpont street was found dead at the bottom of the "Old Glory Hole" about 150 feet west of Delaware avenue, overlooking Sycamore street, Monday afternoon. A brief account of the finding of the body was given in Monday's Freeman.

The body was discovered by two boys, James L. Welch of No. 156 Fair street, and William V. Pennington of No. 74 Main street, while hiking through the woods. Police headquarters was notified and Simon Wood made an investigation and reported to headquarters that the body was about one hundred feet below the surface of the earth.

Sergeant Phinney went to the Central Fire Station, and with Deputy Chief Murphy and Fireman John Hoffman hurried to the scene. Coroner Kelly was also notified. As the body was so far down it was decided to see if it could not be approached more easily from the tunnel leading from the rear of East Union street, back of the Sheppard property. The men climbed through the tunnel into the abandoned quarry and finally came to the old glory hole and saw the body about thirty-five feet below them yet.

The rope they had taken with them was lowered and Fireman Hoffman lowered himself down in the hole and attached the rope to the body and it was hauled to the surface. The men found it no easy job to carry the body back through the way they had entered the quarry.

Coroner Kelly made a thorough examination and the only identification mark was a memorandum blank from the store of Sam Bernstein & Company on Wall street. With the aid of the card it was learned that the body might be that of Vernon Shaw.

Coroner Kelly located a cousin of the dead man, Frank Shaw, on Washington avenue, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Ennist, of No. 23 West Pierpont street, and they called at the coroner's morgue and identified the body.

The dead man was a moulder by trade and at one time worked at the Riddick foundry on St. James street. He formerly resided at Tongore and had only recently removed to this city.

Coroner Kelly stated this morning that in his opinion the dead man had accidently slipped and fell into the glory hole. He had been missing from home since September 28, but as he had frequently left home and went away for brief periods nothing was thought of it when he did not return.

Dr. E. E. Norwood, who examined the body, was of the opinion that Shaw had been dead three or four days when found. The fall into the quarry hole had fractured his skull and the body when found lay face downward.

The body will be interned at Tongore.

WARD WILL AID ALLOTMENT CASES

Congressman Will Investigate Cases Where Families Fail to Secure Rightful Allowances from Soldiers or Government.

Congressman Charles B. Ward, representing the 27th Congressional District of New York, comprising the counties of Sullivan, Ulster, Greene, Schoharie and Columbia, finds that many families who have relatives in the service are experiencing trouble and delay in securing allotments and allowances made to them by the soldier and the government, and urges that such cases be brought to his attention so that he may investigate the records of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance or office of the Depot Quartermaster General with a view of bringing about an early disposition of the cases involved.

The establishment of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the treasury department was authorized by act of congress approved September 2nd, 1914. Since our entrance into the European war congress amended this act and gave to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance additional powers. The bureau has grown rapidly from an office of several clerks to many thousand employes. Much difficulty resulted from the employment of such a large number of inexperienced clerks, and after thousands of applications had been received from the soldiers it was found necessary to refile all the records of the bureau. Cases which were originally handled by the Depot Quartermaster General were referred to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, and by a recent change in the law have been returned to the Depot Quartermaster General. As a result of these changes many allotments and allowances which were being paid regularly have been stopped pending the arrival of new applications from the men in the service. Where allotments and allowances have been suspended or there is a delay in payment being made upon the original applications, a communication addressed to Congressman Ward, Washington, D. C., will receive prompt attention, and everything possible will be done to bring relief to those who are entitled to and should receive compensation from the govenment.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Practical Model.

2386—Little guimpe dresses, such as this, are just the thing for school or play, and indeed, also for best wear. They are easy to develop and easy to launder. The guimpe may be of crepe, lawn or batiste; the dress of gingham, percale, linen or voile. Silk or woolen goods are also appropriate. A wide belt at Empire waistline holds the fulness of the dress, which is closed on the shoulders.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires ⅞ yard of 36 inch material for the guimpe and 2⅛ yards for the dress.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1918-1919 catalogue, containing 550 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches) all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

A number of cases for breach of contract, other damage cases and slander actions are in the calendar.

WAR CHEST PLAN ADOPTED MONDAY

At a Meeting Held in High School That Evening—Grip Kept Down Attendance as Only About 100 Attended.

The War Chest plan was adopted Monday evening for Kingston and Ulster county at a slimly attended meeting held in the high school auditorium after Mayor Canfield had explained the plan in detatil and how it had worked in other cities. Following the adoption of the War Chest plan the Hon. L. S. Harris and Captain J. J. Scannell delivered interesting addresses which were illustrated with moving pictures.

Mayor Canfield, when he called the meeting to order, said it was evident that the grip had had a damaging influence on the attendance. He called attention to the fact that in November there would be a big drive in Kingston and Ulster county to raise $105,000 which was the county's quota. This money will be distributed between the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the K. of C., Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association, and the Salvation Army.

He had telegraphed to the mayors of Albany, Rome, Syracuse, where the War Chest plan had been adopted and it had been meeting with success, according to telegrams sent him in reply.

Frank R. Powley said he had received a letter from a lady residing up the U. & D., objecting to the War Chest plan, as she said the people of her vicinity when they gave wanted to know what particular cause they were giving. He said that he had informed her that the way he understood it was that when any one subscribed toward the War Chest he could designate what activity he wanted the money he subscribed sent to.

Mayor Canfield said that was true, but of course that would not apply to the November drive, where the government had asked Ulster county for the lump sum of $105,000, and which the government would distribute between the seven war activities mentioned.

The mayor said he was not going to express a preference for the plan. If the majority favored the War Chest plan he was for it, and if the majority wanted to continue raising funds in the various drives in the old way he was for that.

Explaining further the War Chest plan in other cities he said that those who were receiving $1,200 a year or under contributed 25 cents a week for the year, and that those who made more gave in proportion.

William Dugan, of Costello & Dugan, the Wall street hardware merchants, moved that the War Chest plan be endorsed, which was seconded by the Rev. F. B. Seeley, of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and unanimously carried.

This War Chest will take care of all national drives as well as local war activities.

SOLDIERS AND WORKERS.

There is mention of our "industrial army" as well as of our fighting army. Theoretically the whole nation is mobilized for war and in a sense this is really true, for our resources in general are now ordered and employed to an extent never dreamed of during our previous wars. But there is a startling contrast between the duties and privileges of our fighting and industrial armies, between what is required of the one and what is permitted the other. The fighting army works for a dollar a day and its hours may number as many as twenty-four. The industrial army works eight hours a day for $8 and often strikes in order to get $10. In doing this the "industrial soldier" is not guilty of insubordination and suffers no punishment, but similar behavior would make the fighting soldier guilty of mutiny and he would be courtmartialed and probably shot.

The industrial soldier is free, keeps safe at home, and enjoys the opportunity of his life to build up a bank account. The fighting soldier is ever subject to orders which he must obey promptly and without question. While earning practically no money he risks and often gives his very life. Yet to him comes a superior reward, honor certainly, glory possibly, and in all cases to him belongs the joy of playing a part in a great Homeric drama as well as the satisfaction of giving his country the highest form of service. This contrast is briefly drawn with a view to suggest that, while our fighting army is a thing already complete, our industrial army is a problem as yet almost untouched, calling loudly for a solution involving a more genuine mobilization and ordering with a view to the country's best interests in war time.

A SPLENDID PLATFORM.

Our Congressman, the Hon. Charles B. Ward, is not a copious talker, having more liking for deeds than words, but when he does speak his remarks are always worth listening to. Every voter in this district would do well to read his brief but rousing address to the Sullivan County Grange a few days ago. Mr. Ward said in part:

At this very moment it is the patriotic duty of every citizen, without regard to creed, color, or nationality, to give whole-hearted and undivided support to his Government in the prosecution of the war. No matter how great the cost, no matter how terrible the sacrifice, no matter how stupendous the task, our one and only concern at this time should be the welfare and the protection of the gallant young heroes who, on the bloody fields of France, are fighting for the honor and integrity of the American flag, the symbol of liberty, justice and humanity wherever it is unfurled to the breeze. This is the platform on which I stand and on which I shall continue to stand so long as my country is at war. It is the platform on which every true American stands today.

OUR FRIEND AT COURT.

To those who have the interest of Kingston and the Hudson valley region at heart the reelection of State Engineer Frank M. Williams is a matter of vast importance. His case is convincingly presented by his neighbor, the Newburgh News, as follows:

In his efforts to secure legislative appropriation for the erection of terminals at points along the river, the committee of the Hudson Valley Federation of Chambers of Commerce appointed by President George F. Mc[illegible] of Peekskill, has had an able [illegible] efficient co-worker in the State Engineer. Firmly impressed [illegible] necessity of well-equipped landing places along the important [illegible] of the great inland waterway between New York and Albany if the advantages to the State of the agricultural section are to be developed to the highest point, Mr. Williams has [illegible] and spoken on scores of occasions addressed by the Chamber for providing [illegible] for vessels to tie up at the [illegible] which had taken the preliminary steps required by statute viz., Yonkers, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Kingston. Not only did [illegible] appreciate with the committee in [illegible] appropriate legislation to provide for the appropriation of [illegible], but in his annual reports he [illegible] the Legislature to give favorable consideration to the request for [illegible] actions which will provide for [illegible] location of State (and federal) [illegible] locations other than those [illegible] for in the original act. It [illegible] good measure due to this [illegible] of development of the project [illegible] the efforts of the committee were finally crowned with success. At the latest session the Legislature adopted a measure, which was promptly signed by Governor Whitman, directing that "Barge canal terminals shall be constructed at Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Yonkers in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by the State Engineer" and appropriating the sum of $100,000 for the acquisition of sites, etc. State Engineer Williams immediately entered upon the work of surveying the most desirable sites in the cities named. This has recently been finished and maps are now being prepared. It is expected that the taking over of the sites decided upon by the State will be consummated within the next few weeks. Then it will be necessary to again go to the Legislature for funds to proceed with the actual construction of the terminals. The need of a "friend at court," not only to help to obtain this appropriation but also to carry out the work of erecting these huge docks with their massive equipment, will again be felt by the Hudson Valley business men who have been striving so long and so arduously to make river barge terminals a reality. With the retention in the office of State Engineer of Hon. Frank M. Williams such a friend is assured.

"Dat's my intention, suh," responded George. "I know myself what 'tis to struggle along without learnin', an' I has determined my son ain't goin' to have sich trouble as I se had."

"Is your son learning rapidly?"

"He shure is, suh. Las' week he done wrote a letter to his aunt what lives more'n 20 miles from yere, an' afta while he's goin' to write to his aunt dat lives 'bout 50 miles from yere."

HURLEY.

Hurley, Oct. 7.—Liberty bonds—buy them now. Although the sale of Liberty bonds cannot be said to be "going merrily onward," still some progress has been made. As has been already published, the quota for this village is $16,000. There has been actually subscribed so far $5,950 by seventeen subscribers. There are a few pledges to be called for before the close of the drive on October 19 but, as yet, we are some distance from one-half quota. There is still time, however, to aid in getting up at the top. We must do so.

Registration days are October 12, of this week, Saturday, and also Saturday of next week, October 19. In order to vote at the general election in November everybody must be registered. Do not confuse enrollment with registration. Enrollment enables you simply to vote at a party primary, which nowadays takes the place of the old time party caucus. Registration is the only method by which you may vote at the general election in November. Register.

The son and daughter of Homer Crispell, U. S. N., were guests at the Hiller house last Saturday.

Mrs. Murray is visiting her daughter at the parsonage.

Mrs. Eckert is visiting in Hudson.

A start has been made on the final move in making our state road. Several square feet of concrete were laid last week and this week the work will go on quickly. The detour around the mountain road is still the road by which to get south crossing the Hurley bridge to strike the main state road to the south.

Fearless.

A man who makes $15 a week has been advised by a writer that he can marry and get along, providing he has saved up a fund. That sounds reasonable. A man who can save a fund out of a $15-a-week salary has nothing to fear from marriage or anything else.—Kansas City Star.

Breil's Opera Accepted.

Joseph Breil, who spent one winter a few years ago in this city and led the choir in St. Joseph's Church, and about three years ago produced a one act opera at the Kingston Opera House, will be rewarded after twenty years patient waiting to have his one act opera, "The Legend," sung in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York city, some time after Christmas. Mr. Breil wrote the incidental music for Edwin Locke's play, "The Climax," also for Sarah Bernhardt's "Queen Elizabeth," and "The Birth of a Nation," noted moving picture plays. There are four characters in the opera and the scene is laid in a mythical Mescotie county. To have an opera accepted and sung at the Metropolitan Opera House is an honor sought by many composers.

What is the Home Economics Association.

The Emergency Home Economics Association has been carrying on its work in food conservation in co-operation with Mr Shafer, food administrator, the Ulster County Home Defense and the Farm Bureau Association for the past year, comprising a large number of women representing forty-three communities in the county The work is carried on under the direction of an executive committee and has in each of the forty-three community centers a local community committee consisting from three to five members.

The aim of the home economics work is to assist the women in the county in any way possible in following out the rules and regulations of the food administration. It also aims to develop community spirit and to carry on any type of work which will aid the women during these especially busy times.

During the year's work a large number of food demonstrations have been held in these various community centers, also many community meetings with a patriotic program and including lantern slides showing the needs for food conservation were held. Besides this much work has been done through the newspapers of the county and from the headquarters which is at the farm bureau office, No 74 John street.

It's the community committees representing the various organized centers of the county which will meet at Hurley on Wednesday. The object of the meeting will be to devise plans to arrange the home economics work from the emergency basis on which it has been carried to a permanent one, so that the women of the county may be organized and to have an association to take care of it and their needs and do for them what the farm bureau does for the men.

WEST PARK.

West Park, Oct. 8.—Miss Helen Smith left on Sunday for New York to take up her work in connection with the State Charities Aid.

The rector of Ascension Church, in whose care is also Ascension Cemetery, finding himself for the whole summer unable to hire laborers to cut grass, has invited the neighborhood to give one or two hours each to put the grounds into good condition for the winter. The men are asked to come with all needed implements on Tuesday, October 8, at any time after 1 o'clock.

Julian Burroughs is engaged at the ammunition plant at Mingo Hollow.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conner and daughter, Miss Ada Conner, intend moving to Kingston this week.

Paul M. Terpening, formerly in charge of the circulation department of the Holy Cross Magazine, has left for West Orange to take up work in the Edison plant. The Rev. C. E. Harding of Baltimore will probably succeed Mr. Terpening at the monastery.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ackert and son are visiting in Walden for a few days.

Herbert Cindral has made a very successful canvass for the 4th Liberty Loan and secured pledges for over $28,000. This sum will probably take this district "over the top."

War Sermon at St. James's.

In spite of the threatening weather on Sunday night there was a large congregation present at St. James's Church to hear the pastor discuss the question. "Why does not God end this cruel war?" The preacher's logic was invincible, while his illustrations from history and nature were most telling He asserted that the war was not an arbitrary punishment inflicted by God, but it was the consequence of the sins of the nations among themselves, and that through it all the Almighty might teach the nations to follow right ideals. The speaker insisted that as France had recovered herself since she was a peril to Europe in 1815, so Germany has the possibility of self discovery and moral recovery, only in seems to be necessary to bring about her utter defeat as a military power before there can be any repentance on her part. A special plea was made for the Liberty Loan, and the Liberty Anthem was rendered. Next Sunday night Dr. Baragwanath will speak on the topic "Why, and For What, Are We Fighting?"

Sensible Health Precautions.

Washington, Boston, Louisville and Lenox are taking sensible precautions against the spread of influenza. In Washington the supreme court of the United States has excluded from the court room all persons except the lawyers arguing the particular case. All theaters, churches, lecture rooms and schools have been closed. In Boston the same precautions have been taken, the courts having adjourned indefinitely. At Lenox the Garden Club abandoned its usual exhibition. At Louisville all assemblages have been prohibited, and yesterday the state board of health of Kentucky closed every school, church, theater, picture show and the jury trial court in the state. While it is folly to become panicky over the situation, the rapid spread of the disease makes it imperative to take the most drastic precautions.

Boy Scout Hike Tomorrow.

Scout Executive Bircher does not believe in letting the Boy Scouts be open to the accredited result of having idle hands. The schools will be closed this week, so tomorrow morning all Scouts who can, and who want to, will have the fun of taking a hike with the scout executive. During the hike the boys will be given a plain, wholesome talk on health, the value of fresh air, deep breathing, wholesome food, etc. They will have the fresh air end of it practically demonstrated. They are asked to bring either their lunch or something to cook, and a fine, healthy time is promised all who go on the hike. The boys are asked to be at Forsyth Park tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, sharp ready to start.

Building Concrete Barges.

The L. B. Harrison Shipyards, Inc., has two of its four ways completed at Athens, up the river, and has begun the construction of a concrete railroad barge, the first concrete boat of its kind ever built. The boats will be used on the barge canal and great lakes. Later concrete seagoing tugs will be built. The new corporation has a $1,000,000 government contract and expects to complete the order by the first of the year.

influenza may occur at any season of the year, thus the present epidemic raged most intensely in Europe in May, June and July. Moreover, in the case of ordinary colds, the general symptoms (fever, pain, depression) are by no means as severe or as sudden in their onset as they are in influenza. Finally, ordinary colds do not spread through the community so rapidly or so extensively as does influenza.

In most cases a person taken sick with influenza feels sick rather suddenly. He feels weak, has pains in the eyes, ears, head or back, and may be sore all over. Many patients feel dizzy, some vomit. Most of the patients complain of feeling chilly, and with this comes a fever in which the temperature rises to 100 to 104. In most cases the pulse remains relatively slow.

In appearance one is struck by the fact that the patient looks sick. His eyes and the inner side of his eyelids may be slightly "blood-shot," or "congested," as the doctors say. There may be running from the nose or there may be some cough. These signs of a cold may not be marked; nevertheless the patient looks and feels very sick.

In addition to the appearance and the symptoms as already described, examination of the patient's blood may aid the physician in recognizing "Spanish influenza," for it has been found that in this disease the number of white corpuscles show little or no increase above the normal. It is possible that the laboratory investigations now being made through the National Research Council and the United States Hygienic Laboratory will furnish a more certain way in which individual cases of this disease can be recognized.

What is the course of the disease? Do people die of it?

Ordinarily, the fever lasts from three to four days and the patient recovers. But while the proportion of deaths in the present epidemic has generally been low, in some places the outbreak has been severe and deaths have been numerous. When death occurs it is usually the result of a complication.

What causes the disease and how is it spread?

Bacteriologists who have studied influenza epidemics in the past have found in many of the cases a very small rod-shaped germ called, after its discoverer, Pfeiffer's bacillus. In other cases of apparently the same kind of disease there were found pneumococci, the germs of lobar pneumonia. Still others have been caused by streptococci, and by other germs with long names.

No matter what particular kind of germ causes the epidemic, it is now believed that influenza is always spread from person to person, the germs being carried with the air along with the very small droplets of mucus, expelled by coughing or sneezing, forceful talking and the like by one who already has the germs of the disease. They may also be carried about in the air in the form of dust coming from dried mucus, from coughing or sneezing, or from careless people who spit on the floor and on the sidewalk. As in most other catching diseases, a person who has only a mild attack of the disease himself may give a very severe attack to others.

What should be done by those who catch the disease?

It is very important that every person who becomes sick with influenza should go home at once and go to bed. This will help keep away dangerous complications and will, at the same time, keep the patient from scattering the disease far and wide. It is highly desirable that no one be allowed to sleep in the same room with the patient. In fact, no one but the nurse should be allowed in the room.

If there is cough and sputum or running of the eyes and nose, care should be taken that all such discharges are collected on bits of gauze or rag or paper napkins and burned. If the patient complains of fever and headache, he should be given water to drink, a cold compress to the forehead, and a light sponge. Only such medicine should be given as is prescribed by the doctor. It is foolish to ask the druggist to prescribe and may be dangerous to take the so-called "safe, sure and harmless" remedies advertised by patent medicine manufacturers.

If a patient is so situated that he can be attended only by some one who must also look after others in the family, it is advisable that such attendant wear a wrapper, apron or gown over the ordinary house clothes while in the sick room, and slip this off when leaving to look after the others.

Nurses and attendants will do well to guard against breathing in dangerous disease germs by wearing a simple fold of gauze or mask while near the patient.

Will a person who has had influenza before catch the disease again?

It is well known that an attack of measles or scarlet fever or smallpox usually protects a person against another attack of the same disease. This appears not to be true of "Spanish influenza." According to newspaper reports the King of Spain suffered an attack of influenza during the epidemic thirty years ago, and was again stricken during the recent outbreak in Spain.

How can one guard against influenza?

In guarding against disease of all kinds, it is important that the body be kept strong and able to fight off disease germs. This can be done by having a proper proportion of work, play and rest, by keeping the body well clothed, and by eating sufficient, wholesome and properly selected food. In connection with diet, it is well to remember that milk is one of the best all-around foods obtainable for adults as well as children. So far as a disease like influenza is concerned health authorities everywhere recognize the very close relation between its spread and overcrowded homes. While it is not always possible, especially in times like the present, to avoid such over crowding, people should consider the health danger and make every effort to reduce the home overcrowding to a minimum. The value of fresh air through open windows can not be over emphasized.

Where crowding is unavoidable, as in street cars, care should be taken to keep the face so turned as not to inhale directly the air breathed out by another person.

It is especially important to beware of the person who coughs or sneezes without covering his mouth and nose. It also follows that one should keep out of crowds and stuffy places as much as possible, keep homes, offices and workshops well aired, spend time out of doors each day, walk to work if at all practicable—in short, take every possible effort to breathe as much pure air as possible.

"Cover mouth each cough and sneeze. If you don't you'll spread disease."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 8.—There was an absence of selling orders at the opening of the stock market today and during the first fifteen minutes nearly all the active issues made gains, ranging from 1 to 3 points. The marine issues were prominent, the preferred stock moving up 2½ points to 112½, and the Common rose 1 point to 28¾. The six per cent bonds were also in demand, advancing to 100½. The steel industrials also showed pronounced strength, with Steel Common advancing ⅞ to 107¾, and Bethlehem Steel B advanced 1 point to 72. Mexican Petroleum made a gain of 1⅜ to 120, and Texas Co. 1¼ to 182. Distillers Securities shared in the improvement, advancing ½ to 47¼ and Industrial Alcohol moved up 1¼ to 104.

Further advances were made in many stocks during the forenoon but some recessions occurred just before noon. The trading in Marine Preferred was on a large scale but the buying was so broad that one selling order of 10,000 shares caused only a fractional reaction after that stock had advanced to 112½. Atlantic Gulf moved up nearly 2 points to 108, and American Telephone continued in demand, showing an advance of 3¾ at 109½. Steel Common moved up one point to 107⅞ and the other steel industrials showed about the same amount of gain. At the high prices of the forenoon there was some slight reaction on a small supply of stock.

The market was strong in the afternoon with the Marine issues continuing to show the most strength. Marine Preferred sold up to 114⅜, and the six per cent bonds moved up to 103¾. The Steel issues were about one point higher, Steel Common touching 108. Baldwin 82⅞ and Bethlehem Steel B 73¾. Distillers moved up to 48, while Industrial Alcohol, after advancing to 105, reacted to 103¼, and Mexican Petroleum declined from 120 to 118⅝.

The market closed heavy today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

The Door of Tears.

The main entrance to Bellevue hospital at New York is called the "Door of Tears." Millions and millions of tears are said to have been shed here. It is through these doors that friends and relatives of patients call to ask for them. It is here that visitors to the hospital are given directions for reaching certain parts of the maze of buildings that form the hospital. It is here that the good tidings or bad of the condition of the patients within are obtained. It is here that one smiles or drops a tear. Thousands of persons who have knocked at the door with high hopes have gone away weeping.

TOOK FLING AT BOOSTERS

Visitor's Suggestion Probably Did Not Tend to Make Him Popular in Los Angeles.

Merle Sidener, local advertising man, recently returned from a Western trip in which he visited the city of Los Angeles. He was impressed with the boosting of the Los Angeles citizens and said he learned that an Oregon colonel from Portland was the guest of honor at a banquet in Los Angeles. The usual after-dinner speeches were made, all boosting the city of Los Angeles, but each speaker regretted that Los Angeles had not been founded on the coast. The speakers all said that had the city been on the coast instead of ten miles or so from it, the city would be the garden spot of the world. The visiting colonel was called on to speak and said:

"Gentlemen, I am impressed with your city as much as you are and believe that I can suggest a way in which you can accomplish your wish."

All of the citizens present leaned forward eagerly, for this was no doubt the solution that had long been waiting for. The colonel continued:

"This is what you should do. Obtain a large pipe, run it from the center of your city into the ocean and if you can suck as hard as you can blow the ocean will soon be in your city."—Indianapolis News.

Milton, Oct. 8.—E. Knud T. Dalgreen, captain of Co. H, State Guards, of the town of Marlborough, died at his home in Milton on Monday morning at 6 o'clock. Death was caused by pneumonia. He had been ill less than a week. Capt. Dalgreen was born in Denmark, where he was educated in military tactics and attained distinction. Funeral will be private one, on Thursday. The Guards will attend from the house to burial place in the M. E. cemetery. Captain Dalgreen had a fine personality and was beloved by all who knew him well in this vicinity. Further particulars will be published later.

Ellenville Brewery Fail.

OCTOBER CALL EXPECTED SOON

The three Local Exemption Boards of Ulster county expect daily an order to prepare lists of men to be mobilized for military service the latter part of this month. A call for the entrainment of 7,168 white registrants for general military service was received Monday at the selective service headquarters for New York state at Albany. During a five day period beginning October 21st, 3,500 will be sent to Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., from this state, and to other camps during the same period 564 men to Fort Worth, 987 to Fort Totten, and 2,117 to Fort Hamilton.

The KITCHEN CABINET

'Tis better to be skilled in making salad,
Than versifying sweetest song or ballad,
For man, 'tis said, is but a hungry sinner,
Devoid of sentiment 'till after dinner,
So, if the way you'd find unto his heart
Essay not verse, but culinary art.

A FEW PRETTY SALADS.

The combination of light green found in the cucumber, and the rich red of the ripe tomato makes a salad most alluring. Small tomatoes may be peeled and cut in the form of a tulip with a bit of yellow mayonnaise for the center; placed on head lettuce, they look like a flower.

A pretty way to serve cucumber is to peel it, then pare in rounds as one does an apple, keeping the pieces as long as possible. Wind in rose shape, place a spoonful of mayonnaise in the center and if placed on lettuce or a slice of tomato will prove both pleasing to the eye and the palate.

Chopped cucumber with onion used as a filling for tomato cups, the filling mixed with a good boiled dressing or any kind of oil dressing, is another good combination well liked.

Green Pepper With Cheese.—Cut green peppers in halves, removing the seeds and white pulp, then fill with highly seasoned cream cheese which has been softened with cream; a few chopped chives may be added. The peppers are set away to chill, and when ready to serve cut them in slices. The slice will have a ring of the pretty green or red of the pepper around the cheese.

Tomato and Pineapple Salad.—Peel shapely small tomatoes and cut in eighths, keeping it together at the blossom end. Open out like a flower and fill the center with chopped pineapple and celery and dot with a spoonful of yellow mayonnaise just before serving. Slices of radish with slices of onion of the same size in overlapping slices make a pretty garnish for a plain lettuce or head lettuce salad.

Head Lettuce With Peanuts.—Take a half cupful of nice fresh peanuts, roll with the rolling pin until crushed like crumbs. Sprinkle these over head lettuce that has been dressed with a highly seasoned French dressing with a tablespoonful of onion added to it.

Nellie Maxwell

His Disappointment.

"Old Riley Rezzidew is a good deal cut up over the fire last night," related Burt Blurt of Petunia. "You see, he has been declaring for years that the planing mill was a regular fire trap. Every time the fire bell rang he would hop out of bed, howling that the planing mill was a goner this time. Just as he had always told 'em it would be. And when it proved to be something else he'd console himself with the thought that he would hit it right on the next occasion. Then last night, while he slept so soundly that he didn't hear the bell at all, the planing mill actually did burn, at the only time that he hadn't told 'em so."—Kansas City Star.

Pigeon Voyager Unique.

The "pigeon voyager" is a model of patriotism, for it knows but one home. So it must be "settled" in the locality where it is to be used. Consequently only the men to handle them can be trained in the United States; the birds, all of racing homer stock, sent from here are useful only for breeding. When ten weeks old, the "squeakers," as the young birds are called, are able to fly, and their training begins. They are taken from the lofts and left alone to get the first "mental photograph" of their surroundings. If frightened at this time they may become useless. Afterward come daily flights, beginning with one mile and gradually increased.

How Vessels Sink.

Nearly every class of vessel is said to sink in a particular way. For instance, the old-type of single-bottom steamer, with few or no bulkheads, almost inevitably founders on more or less of an even keel, which means that they sink level. The case of a modern vessel, which is built with numerous subdivisions, founders with her bow or stern high out of water, or with a heavy list to one side. The bulkheads prevent the water which enters the vessel from finding its level, consequently when one particular portion of the ship is full of water, while the remainder is practically water-tight, that part which is water-laden sinks first.

BREWERS FINANCE PRO-GERMAN PAPER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Urging that the scope of the senate investigation of the policies of organized browing interests of the United States be not limited to charges made by A. Mitchell Palmer, Senator Jones of Washington, today submitted to the judiciary sub-committee the sources from which he said proof of all charges against the brewers could be secured.

Senator Joines pointed out that the investigation resolution of which he was the author, specifically asks the committee to call upon A Mitchell Palmer, alien enemy property director, to produce all documents in his possession tending to support the charges cited in the resolution.

Copies of the official bulletin of the National German-American Alliance in the possession of Gustave Ohlinger will prove, he said, that the United States Brewers' Association "contributed to the national German-American Alliance and financed its official organ after the sinking of the Lusitania and other similar German atrocities."

Evidence in the hands of the attorney general of Texas and of the United States district attorney at Pittsburgh, Jones alleged, would show that the United States Brewers' Association has violated the federal corrupt practices act and other criminal laws.

The United States district attorney at Pittsburgh could prove, Jones declared, that brewers' organizations and individual brewers have encouraged the starting of strikes in dry territory and instigated local troubles in shops and factories whose owners favored prohibition.

The retail shop of the Red Cross Salvage Bureau, No 666 Broadway, will be opened on Thursday morning of this week at 9 o'clock, for the first. Hereafter the shop will be open every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1 to 5 in the afternoon. This very interesting shop with its attractive lattice-work booths, simply but most artistically decorated, should attract both those who have things which, useless to them, may still be valuable to others All that is sold from this shop will be for the benefit of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, and if you have any doubt as to just what is wanted to be sold, or what there will be to purchase, stop in at the shop and learn of those in attendance The interior decorations were designed by Mrs Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead of Birdcliffe, Woodstock, and carried out under her supervision

How to Carry Ink.

When traveling fasten all the bottles and small jars by adhesive tape. Fasten the tape to one side of the neck, carry it across the cork and down on the other side. Celluloid and ivory boxes and jars may be fastened in the same way. They are easily opened and yet so securely fastened that there is no danger of leaking.

Up to the Standard.

People who go in for speed records are not as wise as they think they are; speed without accuracy is of no avail. True, time is at a premium in every line these days, and we should not under any circumstances waste a minute unnecessarily. But if we aren't sure about any phase of our work we must take sufficient time to go into it and not rely on chance to help us where we cannot possibly help ourselves.

PERHAPS RETAIL PRICES WILL DROP

Householders in Kingston will be interested in the news that prices for fresh sweet and salt butter dropped five and four cents a pound, respectively, on the wholesale market in New York Monday, and the deflection "should make itself felt in the retail market within forty-eight hours," according to an announcement by the federal food board last night. The market fluctation follows an investigation by the board in this state to determine whether dealers were exceeding the legal margins of profit. The investigation began about two weeks ago, when butter prices took a sharp upward trend after an announcement that the government had commandeered a large part of the country's storage supply. The board is now investigating several cases in which dealers are alleged to have been selling storage butter as fresh.

Charity Board Met.

The Charity Commissioners held a regular monthly meeting at the city hall Monday evening, but only routine business was transacted. No cases of grip at the City Home were reported.

LOCAL PEOPLE AT GILLESPIE PLANT

William J. Brophy of Washington avenue has received a postal card from his cousin, Miss Veronica Brophy, who lives at South Amboy, N. J., where the plant of the T. A. Gillespie Shell Loading Company was blown up Friday night, that none of her folks were injured but that their house is in ruins. Miss Brophy spent three months in this city the past summer visiting her uncle. Fordyce Post of this city and Michael Cooney are employed at the Gillespie plant, the former as a guard. No tidings have been received from them. There are several others from Kingston employed at the plant. Thomas H. Gillespie, vice president of the company, is well known here, having boarded at the Eagle Hotel for some time while looking after a big contract building a section of the New York aqueduct from High Falls. Daniel McGrane, a well known motorman on the Kingston Consolidated Railroad, was employed at Morgan, N. J., when the explosion occurred, being in the carpenters' gang. He had been employed at the Gillespie plant only three days, going there from Waterbury, Conn. He says the scenes were something he will never forget, the explosions being frightful as the big shells went hurling through the air. With hundreds of others he was ordered off the plant property for their own safety and went to Keyport, N. J., and then by boat to New York. Michael Cooney, he says, was working quite a distance from where the explosions took place, and from what he was told he was all right.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Oct. 8.—The party that took the whip out of Mrs. Ernest Hutchings's wagon at the West Shore station, Port Ewen, Monday at noon is known. On her return from the station Mrs. Hutchings found a blanket and the owner can have the same by proving his property and she will return the whip left in her wagon as she don't want what is not her own. It must require some nerve to do so small a thing in broad daylight to one of your own town people.

William Ronk of Brooklyn, who spent the week end with Mrs. Emily Post on Main street, returned to Brooklyn Monday.

Miss Jennie Stephenson of Broadway is ill. Dr. C. W. Ross is attending her.

Mrs. Lillian Ellsworth of Kingston spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mary Hinchman, on Broadway.

John Farnbacker, who is employed at Weehawken, spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Ella Farnbacker, on Salem street.

A business meeting and social of the Epworth League Society will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Methodist Chapel.

Ralph Shultis is ill at his home on Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sullivan of Green street moved to Kingston for the winter on Monday.
